

Source Management Workshop

Working on a thesis, essay, or research paper?

Want to explore software options for organizing your source material?

Thursday, February 9th
12:00 – 1:00 pm
Usdan 108

(Feel free to bring your lunch)

Accessibility Services will give a demonstration on how to use EndNote and Evernote to organize your research material.

EndNote helps you organize your reference materials and citation information.

You can use EndNote to enter citations into Microsoft Word as you write, and automatically format your bibliography.

Evernote helps you to organize your reference material and notes.

You can use Evernote to store your annotated journal articles (rather than folders) and use tags to keep track of related items.

Additional demonstrations of:

OneNote

Mendeley

Sensus Access

and more
